

Sakura restaurant put on its Halloween Face

Some may have dressed in wild costumes for the many parties taking place this weekend, but some chose just to enjoy their Halloween celebration on the open-air terrace overlooking the town square that is the charming little restaurant Sakura Sushi House. Excellent martinis and fresh made sushi were the fare, as they listened to the mellow mix of music from Marisela and the Aquarius Band, and had Freddy Kruger come at visit them at their table.

Sakura owner Joselin Croes was hard at work, and though she and her girls were dressed in Far Eastern costume, this was not for the holiday, as that is how you will find them any day of the week!
